DRAWINGS AND TIME SCHEDULE PO THE AMATRUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

An Added Starter from St. Louis-Practice Rounds and a Women's Competition at the Morris County Course—Douglas and Travis Make Low Scores—Lenox Results.

An additional entry was received yesterday for the amateur golf championship of the United States, that of Howard Elting, St. Louis Country Club. It had been mailed on Satur-day, but had been delayed in transit. This addition increases the number to 120. The frawings for the qualifying round on Monday of thirty-six holes, medal play, were made terday by the Executive Committee of the U. S. G. A. The "luck of the draw" is not such a prominent factor in medal as in match play, for the only advantage to be gained is to btain a partner who will play fast and pleas antly and not put a person off his same by exations delays or annoying quibbles. Happy nstances of good luck in the draw see Douglas and Frost, Keene and Whigham, MacDonald and Vanderpool, Tyng and Lynch, Travis and Leeds, and Bobbins and Wright.

The first pair will start at 7:30 A. M. and the seconding pairs at four-minute intervals until 11:26 A. M., when the pairs will begin starting on the second eighteen-hole round. A notice warning of the exact time he will be sent from the first tee. In the following list of the pairings the initials and clubs of the players, omitted. By calculating on the four-minute basis the exact time when each pair will leave the tee may be readily computed.

On account of the large number of entries and the necessity of starting promptly, those contestants who will not be able to play are most earnestly requested to send an immediate notification to Robert Bage Kerr, Secretary U. S. G. A. at the Morris County Golf Club, where he has already opened an office to manage championship details.

Quite a number of the amateur champion thip candidates were on the links of the Mor ris County Club yesterday and more are ex-pected to-day. Findlay S. Douglas, who took up his quarters near the course on Tuesday, made the best eighteen-hole round, an 85. His eard was:

On Tuesday, on his first round of the links, Douglas made an 84, but the first hole, of 238 yards, was a phenomenal 2. W. J. Travis was also out and he made the best score for the first nine holes ever made on the links. The performance disproves the story that Travis has been off his game. He began with a par 3, and on all but two holes, where a short put missed added, two sixes to his card, the golfing was perfect. His strokes were 3 4 4 4 4 6 4 6 -39. He did not do as well on the second nine and tore up the detailed card, but 49 was the figure. Travis played with young Pyne, who made this score:

James A. Tyng, the home champion, after a drivinght of stiff training at forty-five holes a day, is now taking matters easy. He is well on his game, but H. P. Toler of Baltusrol is not doing so well, Wall street having kept him off the links lately. Other golfers who made practice rounds yesterday but did not keep the cards were M. J. Wright, Philadelphia: L. P. Bayard, Jr., Baltusrol; Maturin Ballou, Apawamis; A. De Witt Cochrane, St. Andrew's: B. D. Graham, Harbor Hill; L. F. Palmer, Chicago; C. L. Perkins, Rockaway Hunting; H. W. Slocum, Baltusrol; C. B. Van Brunt, Crescent A. C. and J. Nelson Manning, Auburndale, Mass. In the afternoon the women players of the club met in the fifth match for the Foote Cup. The winner was Miss M. G. Bryce, who, until resently, was one of the best golfers at the Morristown Field Club:

LENOX, Sept. 7.—The third day's play on the Lenox Golf Club links in the open tournamen was excellent in the morning, but during the afternoon a cold rainatorm blew up from the east, and all of the afternoon's playing was done in a blinding storm. From 2 to 4 o clock the players went around in the storm, which was not conductive to the best of golf. The wind often blew the ball far out of the course and made accurate driving impossible. The first event of the morning was the play-off of the tebstween Miss Maude Curtis and Miss Mabel Choate, who were tied Monday for the women's sup. Miss Choate withdrew after the first round. Miss Curtis made the following score, winning the cup: 122, 6, 116. The first round at match play for the Lenox Cup resulted in the continuation of Barker's good luck. MURDERED BY HER 'NEPHEW. Rellly Shot Mrs. O'Toole Because She Held

Mia Trunk for a Board Bill. Patrick Reilly, 35 years old, shot and killed his aunt, Mrs. Rosa O'Toole, in her little sta-Honery store at 827 Tenth avenue, yesterday afternoon. His subsequent capture by the police was due to the bravery Maggie O'Toole. the 16-year-old daughter of the murdered woman, who witnessed the shooting and who pursued Reilly for two blocks when he atempted to escape.

Mrs. O'Toole was 50 years old. When Reilly same to this country eight years ago she fe and lodged him. Lately Reilly has been drinking heavily, and he spent nearly all his time is saloons. He owed a board bill of $11, and he and his aunt had several quarrels over the money. On Monday he attempted to take his trunk away, and when she objected he struck har over the head with a whiffletree. She wrested the whiffletree from him and gave him his eyes. On Tuesday Reilly secured a summons from Magistrate Pool in the West Bids Court for his aunt and the case was heard yesterday. Magistrate Pool discharged Mrs.

O'Toole from custody, and told her she had a right to keep her nephew's trunk until the board bill was paid.

Mrs. O'Toole returned to her little store,
while Reilly west to Hudson and Canal streets, where Mrs. O'Toole's husband is employed as a laborer in the erection of a new building.
Rellly told several of the workmen his srievances, and then went to the stationery store.
Whon he entered the place Mrs. O'Toole was talking to three of her children. Maggie. Mary, and Rosa, aged 16, 15, and 13, respectively.
Edward Riernan of 504 West Fifty-fifth street was also in the store.

"Give me a cent's worth of eigarettes," said Reilly, in an ugly tone, as he threw a penny on the counter. Mrs. O'Toole handed him two cigarettes, and Reilly then demanded matches.
A lox was handed to him, and he promptly upset it over the counter, evidently desiring to start a fight. Mrs. O'Toole said nothing and started to pick up the matches. Reilly turned, walked as far as the door, and then turned again, levelling a 38-calibre revolver at Mrs.
O'Toole.

"Look out mother!" shrieked Maggie, "Pat's going to shoot."

Mrs. O'Toole raised her head, and at that In-

Look out. mother!" shrieked Maggie, "Pat's going to shoot."

Mrs. O'Toole raised her head, and at that instant Reilly fired. The bullet entered her right eye and she fell dead on the floor. Reilly fied, but Maggie ran after him, following him until he entered Cornet's stables at 504 West Fifty-fourth street. She stood guard at the door until Policeman Steuel of the West Forty-seventh street station arrived.

Beuel found Reilly hiding in the hay mow. Reilly surrendered without resistance. He was taken back to the little store, and there a mob that had gathered began to threaten him. Steuel finally took Reilly to the West Forty-seventh street station in a patrol wagon. He refused to talk about the case. The revolver was found on him when he was searched.

ACCUSED OF TAKING STATE FUNDS Ex-Deputy Treasurer Gerrish of New Hampshire Tells Tales After Arrest. CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 7 .- Ex-Deputy State Treasurer Hiram F. Gerrish, who was forced to resign on July 1 by reason of irregularities in his accounts, was arrested this afternoon, charged with the embezziement of $5,000 of the State's funds. After giving bail he made a statement concerning affairs at the State Preasury during his seven years in office

He said he discovered a shortage of $4,000 during his first week in office, and that during his term the shortage increased at one time to $9,500. The shortages were covered at the periodical auditing of accounts by means of certificates of deposit, which would disappear after each examination. Just before a burgiary at the Treasurer's office two years ago, when $3,000 disappeared, there was credited to "cash" an envelope marked "$2,500." which contained no equivalent. He asked State Treasurer Carter about it and was told that the absence of an equivalent would be made good. The burgiary took place before this was made good, according to Gerrish, and the envelope disappeared.

Treasurer Carter said in reply to the exdeputy's accusations, that he could show where every dollar of the State's money has been at all times during his term of office. He said he discovered a shortage of $4,000

In running away from another boy he dashed across the stree just as an east-bound trolley car came along at great speed. The fender struck him and knocked him down and the car passed over his body.

Policeman Conway arrested Jacob Doessier, the motorman, and arraigned him in the York-ville Court. Magistrate Olmsted ordered him taken before the Coroner, who released him in custody of his cov. 21.

The Hilss Poisoning Case.

Capt. McClusky was quietly at work on the Hiles poisoning case yesterday, but did not re-port any results. In fact, there can be none to until the Health Department chemist. who is analyzing the whiskey that is supposed to have contained the poison, is heard from. His report will be in to-day, and then, for the first time, the police will know where they are at. time, the police will know where they are at. Meanwhile, no time is being lost. Many odd circumstances are being sifted out, and the outcome may yet surprise a good many persons, even if it does not lead to the criminal prosecution of any one. It is all guesswork, more or less, as yet, but it is known that Capt. McClusky is impressed with the view of the case which Mrs. Hilss put forth, that a woman was at the bottom of it.

Police Sergeants Moved About.

The Police Board yesterday increased the pensions of ex-Capts. Bobbins and Mount, who were retired years ago from $1,000 to $1,375, the present half-pay rate, At the time they went off the active list, a Police Captain's pay was $2,000. Until now there has been no power in the board to add to their pensions The board restored Patrolman John H. Mills of the old Long Island City force to office under order of the Supreme Court. Chief Devery changed the following Sergeants about: Woods, from patrol boat to East 104th street; Hawley, from sub-patrol boat to West 125th street; Os-borne, from West 125th street to sub-patrol boat; Creamer, from East 104th street to Cen-tral Office; Hogan, from Central Office to patrol boat.

Two More of Big Bill Mason's Pals Sentenced.

John Murray and George Spencer, who, the police say, are pals of "Big Bill" Mason, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Newburger, in Part I. of the Court of General Sessions, to the charge of carrying burglars' tools, as a misdemeanor, and were sentenced to fine months imprisonment each in the penitentiary.

Thomas Rellly, who, the police say, is another pal of Big Bill, was tried and convicted in General Sessions a short time ago on the same charge and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by Judge Cowing, who, however, granted a certificate of reasonable doubt in the case.

The Weather.

The warm wave was broke yesterday afternoon by a heavy thunderstorm, accompanied by a south-west wind that blew seventy-two miles an hour. The temperature dropped suddenly from 85° to 74° and continued comparatively low for the remainder of the day. The rainfall was heavy and drifting, the total during the high wind being .13 of an inch. The area of low pressure which kept the warm wave over this section moved out the St. Lawr Valley attended by heavy thunderstorms in the lake regions, middle Atlantic and New England States, the Tennesse and Ohio valleys. CHINESE LABOR UNION AFTER LEE. He Wouldn't Raise His Prices and He in

Louis Sing of 28 Mott street, manager of the Chinese Laundrymen's Association, was in the Yorkville Court yesterday in response to a summons obtained by Joe Heary San Lee, who keeps a laundry in First avenue near Twenty-eighth street. Lee complained that he was being persecuted by the association of which Sing is the manager, because he refused to oin it and would not conform to its scale of prices for laundry work. He said the associa-tion was very much like the Highbinders in its way of enforcing its commands, and had sent him a letter threatening him with bodily harm unless he should join it and raise his prices to the schedule approved by the members.

Lee's landlord told Magistrate Olmsted that his tenant was a peaceable and industrious Chinaman, who, because of his good laundry work and reasonable charges, was well liked by the people for whom he washed. Several of the association laundrymen called at Lee's place, he said, and ordered him to join the society and raise his prices. When he refused they poured bluing iato his washing, run a hot iron over some shirts, scorching the bosoms, and mixed up the tickets of the customers. Lee drove them out with hot irons, but they returned the next night and broke his windows. When he received the letter he decided to seek the protection of the law. He handed up the letter, which was written in Chinese.

"What does it say?" asked the Magistrate. "It say I make business bad for merchant society," explained the complainant. "and that I keep down price and not mind company. Society speak me again, and if no mind society, ireat me as enemy and make me sorry," Louis Sing said the other had not properly translated the letter, and the Magistrate asked him to read it.

"This letter send to distant uncle about wicked nephew who belong to merchant society," read the defendant. "He not mind what company said and make business pretty bad and keep down price and we come speak, you again to make bad nephew obliers society." Lee said Sing had not translated some characters in red sink which contained a threat to do him injury. Sing said the characters were peculiar Chinese expressions that would mean good of evil as the reader choose. Sing's lawyer explained that the Chinese in this city had an association for the mutual protection of the members, and a sort of Chinese court was held in Mott street on Sundays, where those violating the rules of the association were tried and penaltics imposed. Those Chinese who refused to join the association were tried and penaltics imposed. Those chinese who refused to join the association were boycotted and were shunned by the members of the colony.

Lee said he did not wish to punish Sin tion.

Magistrate Olmsted commended Lee's independence and said he would issue a warrant for the men if they annoyed him again.

The complaint was then dismissed.

TROLLEYMEN'S COMPLAINTS.

Too Many Trips in Brooklyn-Ten-Hour Law Said to Be Violated.

The motormen and conductors on the trolley lines in Brooklyn have been complaining for some time about alleged grievances, which they say are worse than those which caused the general street railway strike some years ago. Among these grievances are violation of the tenhour law, too many trips per day, the present spotting system, which they allege takes away all their independence, and the trip system.

Most of the men were afraid to talk lest they might be talking unconsciously to an agent of the company. Some of the employees of the Halsey street, Fulton street and other lines of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company said that the Brooklyn City Railroad Company said that they were doing a trip more per day on an average than the men had to do before the strike. One man said:

"It is very seldom that we can do the trips within the time, and we must do the specified number of trips to get $2 a day. This is uni-versal on all the roads, and motormen have a hard time to make up for any delays that may take place. This makes it hard for the com-hard time to make up for any delays that may take place. This makes it hard for the company to get men."

Mayor Van Week is quoted as telling a delegation of Knights of Labor who called upon him with a complaint that the ten-hour law is being violated on the Brooklyn trolley roads that he would do his best to see that the law was observed. As a matter of fact, complaints of this kind would come first before a Brooklyn Police Magistrate. The trolley employees say that the trippers have in some of the depots to report at 5 o clock in the morning, and it may be evening before they get a car.

The officials of the companies say that the ten-hour law is adhered to as far as is practicable and that the men are always paid for vertime.

reasie and that the men are always paid for overtime.

The employees of the roads are not organized to any extent. The last strike broke up their organization and they have never been able to reorganize since. Very few cases of accidents have been brought up in the courts for the past year or six months.

BETTINA GERARD'S HABEAS CORPUS. Decision As to Her Incarceration for Habitual Intoxication Reserved.

Judge Bookstaver in the Supreme Court vesterday reserved his decision in the habeas corpus proceedings taken for the release of Bettina Gerard from St. Saviour's Sanitarium at Inwood on the Hudson, where she has been confined for three months because of her use of intoxicants. Although she went to the institution voluntarily, she learned later that a commitment under which she was sought to be detained in the place for one year, had been be detained in the place for one year, had been signed by Juk-lee Stover, on the certificate of two physicians:

A. H. Hummel presented a demurrer to the return made by the asyium authorities, and insisted that the commitment was defective in many respects; that his client had no opportunity to be heard before it was signed, that she was deprived of her liberty without due process of law, and that the certificate of the physicians did not show that the so-called periodical drunkenness with which she was charged was induced by the use of alcoholic or other liquors, or by opium, morphine, or other stupefying substances. The commitment said that she had a liking for alcoholic "stimulants," while the requirement of the statute was that a person should be addicted to the use of "alcoholic liquors," He said that plum pudding might be regarded as an alcocholic stimulant, yet a court would not incarcerate any one in an asylum simply because he or she was addicted to the use of plum pudding. As the liberty of the person was at stake, he thought the commitment should be strictly construed and his client discharged.

John B. Pine contended that the commitment was legal in its entirety.

Bridge Victim Was William H. Fallon. The man who was killed on the bridge by a Fifth avenue trolley car of the Nassau Company early yesterday morning has been identified as early yesterday morning has been identified as William H. Fallon, a bookkeeper, 35 years old, of 144 Butler street, Brooklyn. Michael Kenney, the motorman of the car, who lives at 563 Vanderbilt avenue, and Conductor John O'Connell of Twenty-second street and Fifth avenue, were arraigned before Magistrate Teale in the Adams Street Police Court in Brooklyn yesterday, and were held in $1,000 bail each to await examination.

Pugilist Butler May Have to Stand Trial. The case of Tommy Butler, pugilist, charged with homicide in causing the death of Alexander Scott in the Greenwood Athletic Club on Aug. 25, was adjourned in the Butler Street Police Court in Brooklyn yesterday until Sept. 26, pending the arrival of the papers from the Coroner's office. District Attorney Marcan said yesterday that the matter would be brought to the attention of the Grand Jury. The Coroner's jury censured the Greenwood Athletic Club for not having Scott properly examined by a physician before the bout.

PRICE AFTER POOLEOOMS

Tendericin Police Captain Stations a Cop Before Each Suspected Resert. Capt. Price of the Tenderloin station is waging war against the poolrooms in his preeinet. For some time past he has been cog-nizant of the existence of a number of them, but has been unable to get enough legal evi-dence upon which he might obtain warrants. Yesterday, in accordance with permission granted by Chief Davery, Capt. Price sent out welve policemen, one of whom took his stand in front of each of the suspected places. All persons entering any of these houses were warned that they did so at their own risk, as the place was under police surveillance and liable to be raided at any time. As a general thing the person warned usually answered. Thanks, old man, That's a good tip," and walked away, much to the disgust of the pool-room proprietors.

WILD MAN IN BLOOMFIELD, N. J.

sessing avenue about a week ago. The avenue is lined with a thick growth of trees and shrubs. On Monday night James Ellor and Frederick R. Pilch saw him. One evening last week he was leading a little girl away from her home by the hand when a young woman employed by the hand when a young woman employed in the silk mill went to the rescue armed with a stick and compelled the man, who was almost naked, to release the child.

Last night Mrs. John Edwards of Grace street was walking along the avenue when she heard screams. Turning, she saw two young women bicyclists racing along the road toward her. When they came up to Mrs. Edwards they were crying from fear and exhaustion. They almost fell from their wheels and ran to her for protection. Between their subst they said a nude man was pursuing them.

When the fellow came up and saw the three women together, ready to make a determined stand against him, he ran into the bushes that fringed the avenue. The young women said they were Annie and Nellie Beyerof Wyoming, N.J., and were on their way to visit friends in Belleville. When the news of the pursuit of the young women spread about town, a crowd of men and boys armed themselves with sticks and stones and went on a hunt for the fellow. He has so far eluded his pursuers. He is supposed to be a lunatic.

MYERS SPOILED THE DOG FIGHT.

Grabbed Greenfeld's Dog by the Tail-Owner Objected-Result, General Mix-Up. If Henry Myers had spoiled a good dog fight resterday it is likely that he would not have been arraigned later in the Essex Market Court on a charge of felonious assault. The dogs were fighting in Allen street when Myers came along. One of them was getting decidedly the best of the battle. It belonged to Max Green-feld of 19 Allen street, and Greenfeld was a delighted spectator of the contest. Myers ran into the middle of the street and grabbed Greenfeld's dog by the tail. The dog turned to resent the interference. This move gave the other dog an opening, which he improved by getting a firm grip on the neck of Greenfeld's getting a firm grip on the neck of Greenfeld's dog.

This was too much for Greenfeld. According to the police he kicked the dogs apart, after which he kicked Myers. In a few minutes the two men were engaged in a rough-and-tumble fight. The dogs also resumed hostilities. Men and dogs were mixed up in a confused mass on the street. Greenfeld's dog assisted his master by gripping Myers by the calf of the log. Myers the police say, returned the compliment by stabbing Greenfeld with a knife in the left side. He also cut himself in a vain attempt to stab Greenfeld a second time.

Detective Cunningham of the Eldridge street station separated the contestants and haled them to the station house, where their wounds were dressed. Myers was held for examination.
